NEWS OF HORSES AND HORSEMEN

List of Officers of the Richmond Horse Show Association.

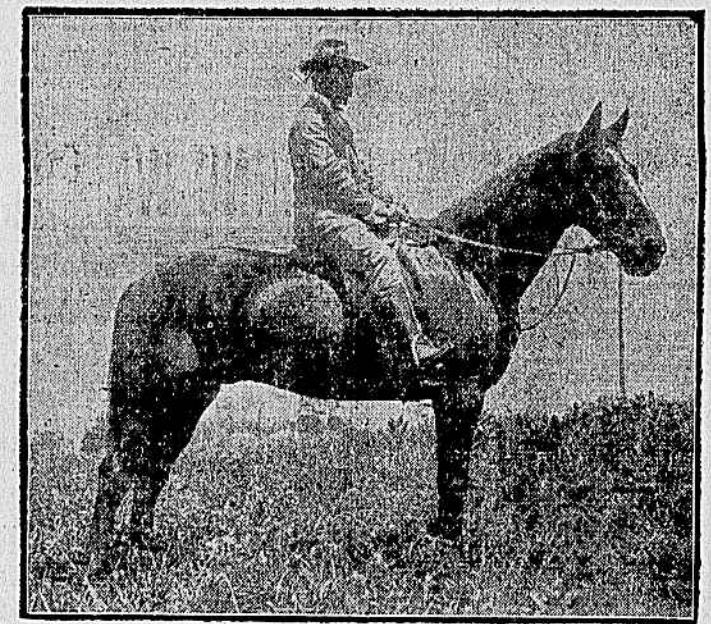

PROMINENT MEN THEY ARE

Dr. Fernyhough's Hunters—
Fatherless Two-Year-Olds—
Sale of Alfred W.

The Richmond Horse Show Association is well equipped and the South has never seen a stronger organization of its kind. The officers are men of wide influence and standing, socially, financially and otherwise, while in personnel they are of a most attractive sort. The association's annual show will come off here during the week of October 10-14, and we are likely to witness the greatest event of its kind ever seen south of New York. The officers are: President, J. T. Anderson; Vice-President, John Kerr Branch; Secretary, James T. Hyde; Assistant Secretary and Treasurer, W. O. Warthen; Executive Committee, Henry Fairfax, John Kerr Branch, H. C. Beattie and J. T. Anderson; Board of Directors, J. T. Anderson, John Kerr Branch, H. C. Beattie, Leigh H. Page, Richmond, John D. Potts, Cincinnati, O.; R. P. Carman, New York; John Spratley, Denison, Va.; James T. Hyde, New York; Henry C. Stuart, Elk Garden, Va.; Henry Fairfax, Aldie, Va.; W. H. White, Norfolk, Va.; C. D. Langhorne, Greenwood, Va.; Sidney C. Love, Chicago; Alexander Hamilton, Petersburg, Va., and L. E. Johnson, Roanoke, Va.

The Richmond Horse Show will be closely allied with those at New York and Chicago, as James T. Hyde, secretary of the former, and Sidney Love, who holds a like position with the latter, are both members of the Richmond board of directors. Mr. Anderson has been president of the Richmond Horse Show since its organization in 1901, while Mr. Beattie, well known as M. F. H. of the Deep Run Hunt Club, has been a co-worker of Mr. Anderson's also from the start. John Kerr Branch is a member of the banking house of Thomas Branch and Company, and an owner of trotters and high stepping harness horses good enough to win in any company. Mr. Carman is one of the best known owners and horse show exhibitors in the country. Messrs. Fairfax and Stuart are members of the State Corporation Commission, the former being widely known in both England and America as a breeder of hackneys and former owner of the noted stallion Matchless, of London. Messrs. Hamilton and Johnson are respectively presidents of the Richmond and Petersburg and Norfolk and Western Railroads. Mr. Potts, formerly a resident of this city, is now a prominent official of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad at Cincinnati, Mr. Langhorne, successful business man, bon vivant and charming raconteur, is a breeder, owner and exhibitor of show horses. Mr. Page is a well known lawyer, who rides to hounds with the Deep Run Hunt Club. Mr. Spratley breeds horses at his farm in Surry county, but his headquarters in New York are at the American Horse Exchange, and many of the best known show horses ever seen in this country have passed through his hands.

Togo, heavy weight hunter, bay gelding, 6, 16-1, weight 1,150 pounds, sired by Dangerous, dam a half-bred mare. His owner Dr. J. G. Fernyhough, State veterinarian, Blacksburg, Va., has the mount.

Dr. J. G. Fernyhough, State veterinarian, and stationed at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, who is not only skilled in his profession, but a practical horseman as well, sends me some interesting notes relative to his stable of hunters and jumpers. Under recent date the Doctor writes:

By to-day's mail I send you a photograph of the greatest heavyweight hunter I have ever owned. I have named him Togo, after Admiral Togo, of the Japanese navy. He is a dappled bay gelding, six years old, stands 16-1, weighs 1,150 pounds, has plenty of style, quality and lots of substance. He is by Dangerous, and out of a good looking half-bred mare. Togo was bred by Mr. E. L.

Purse, Toronto; T. S. Martin, winner at 1-2 mile, Columbia Course, Benning, breaking track record, his maiden start and beating Tippec, winner of Fashion Stakes; The Clover, Judge White, Monty Belle, Little Rose, Bonnet and Alina Baker. In addition all of his three-year-old starters have won: Workman, three wins, including 3-4 in 1:12 3-4; Mistis, two wins, including Queen City Hotel Handicap, beating Froen; and Red Reymard. This is truly a splendid showing, and his get are likely to be sought after this season. The Ellerslie yearlings are to be offered this year at the Fasig-Tipton Co.'s Paddocks, Sheephead Bay, New York, June 19, 20 and 21, and, as they are a fine lot, good prices should result.

The bay stallion, Alfred W., 3032, by Alfred G. dam Cantarella, by Wedgewood, has been sold by W. H. McGaughey, Wilmington, N. C., to Alfred Craven, Fort Smith, Arkansas, by whom the horse will be raced this season. While being handled here as a three-year-old by William J. Bass, the "Apex" Palm trainer, Alfred was "sore" with "fright" or, and promised to make a "trick" while later, the son of Alfred G. was transferred to the stable of E. F. Geers, at Memphis, and the opinion was sustained.

The richly bred bay filly Intelligence, 2, by Viscount, 2-2-1-4, dam Clara D., 2:14 3-4, by Belmont, died here a few days since, her death being due to an injury sustained while running in her paddock. Intelligence was owned jointly by Dr. Thomas Fraser, of this city, and Charles McLean, of Lynchburg, by whom she was well thought of.

Joseph Lastier, of the Richmond Horse Bazaar, has sold to Charles O. Saville the promising trotting mare, Gertrude Ransom, a bay, seven years old, by Robert Ransom, 2:22 3-4, dam Gertrude, dam of Dora, 2:22, being by Mambrino Starline. Gertrude Ransom will be driven on the road by her new owner.

Dr. J. G. Fernyhough, State Veterinarian, Blacksburg, will serve in the capacity of veterinary expert at the Lynchburg Horse Show and Fair, both of which take place during the week of October 3-7.

UNDER HOUSE WHERE LA FAYETTE RESTED

Old Spanish Coin Found While Pulling Down Ancient Structure.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WILMINGTON, VA., June 10.—R. S. Omohundro, for many years postmaster here, has in his possession an old Spanish coin of silver, which doubtless has an interesting history. The face of the coin bears the date 1781 and these words: COROLUS III. DEI GRATIA. The reverse bears the inscription: Hispani Ind. Reg. R. F. P. Several weeks since Mr. Omohundro had torn down a very old house which had stood in the corner of the yard, and after the removal of the lumber this coin was picked up by Mr. Omohundro. The house under which it was found was one of the oldest houses in this part of Virginia, and at the time Lafayette's visit to the United States in 1781 was then used as a part of a tavern. Lafayette with his escort, stopped at Wilmington to rest and enjoy a banquet provided by his admirers and friends while on his way from Richmond to Charlottesville, and it is possible this coin was lost at that time.

The house was afterwards used as a store, the property of Dr. Curran, a well known physician, whose salesman and clerk was Joseph Shepherd, who afterwards made his home in Memphis and who is survived by his son, L. J. Shepherd, one of the most prominent men at the Tennessee bar.

The coin may have been lost during the years in which the old building was used for a store-room, but it is more probable that it was lost at a much earlier date.

The coin is in perfect condition, bearing no marks of mutilation. Altogether, it is a most interesting relic, and one which the owner prizes.

KING GEORGE.

Senatorial and Gubernatorial Campaign.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
COMMON, VA., June 10.—For some months past the public mind has been constantly absorbed by the gubernatorial and senatorial contest, so that the important matter of selecting a Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates for King George and Stafford has received but little attention. If any, after wards made his home in Memphis and who is survived by his son, L. J. Shepherd, one of the most prominent men at the Tennessee bar.

Now that some are awakening to the fact that the time for agreeing upon a candidate is pretty nearly arrived, there is a diversity of opinion as to which of the two counties should be selected to furnish the candidate this year.

The last Democratic member of the House from the counties was King George man, but the last nominee, or candidate, was a Stafford man, who, by the way, was defeated by the Republicans. So, under the circumstances, some claim that Stafford should furnish the "timber," and some are of the opinion that the King George must furnish it. However, all expressions of opinion and discussions on the subject are, so far, entirely unimportant, unofficial and therefore without effect of friction or disputes. It is very probable that a harmonious conclusion will be reached before the close of the year.

Writing Seminary at Oak Grove, of which Mrs. W. D. W. (the principal), has closed its 1904-5 session, and Miss Ethel Province, one of the teachers, has gone to her home in Pennsylvania to spend her summer vacation.

Miss Augusta Wirt, of the Oak Grove neighborhood, left some days ago for Canada, where she will spend some time.

It is said that as many as two thousand excursionists, chiefly from Washington, spent the day at Colonial Beach some time.

Professor A. L. P. Parker is among the number of distinguished Washingtonians quartered at Colonial Beach for the summer.

Tremendous crowds of colored excursionists from Washington visit Somerset Beach, near here, frequently, especially on Sundays, and being joined there by equally multitudes of their folks, have the "biggest times" of their lives. Colored people leave this summer resort at the house of a colored man, who can tempt one of them to work on the days that big crowds come down from Washington.

Miss Mollie Billingsley, a student at the Woman's College, in Richmond, has returned to the home of her parents in this neighborhood.

Miss Frankie Arnold, daughter of Dr. T. T. Arnold, of Willow Hill, near here, has returned from Farmville, where she attended school the past session.

Miss Della Delaney is at Waverly, her home, near this place, after spending some time in Washington.

Mrs. F. P. Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Taylor, at Clatterton, is very ill with typhoid pneumonia. She is attended by two physicians and a trained nurse.

Miss Martha J. Massey, near here, is very sick.

Mrs. Harold Tallaferra, of Washington, has purchased a tombstone to be erected at the grave of her mother, Mrs. Julia Hughes, who was recently interred at Potomac Baptist Church, here.

Attorney George Mason, who was last week appointed mayor of Colonial Beach, as successor to Mr. Cook, resigned, is a native of ## Sweet Chalybeate.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
SWIFT CHALYBEATE, VA., June 10.—The season opened here June 1st, Mrs. J. H. Hume and son, Thomas, of Portsmouth, Va., being the first arrivals.

Mrs. Hume has been a frequenter since antebellum days, when the trip was made in a stage coach from Richmond, and still for her the charm of the resort has not abated.

Many more guests are looked to arrive in a few days and the prospects for the coming season have never been more promising under the present regime.

Quite a number of improvements have been made since last year, adding much to the comfort of the guest.
